FULL DESCRIPTION OF SITE (including topography, adjacent land use, boundaries etc.):

A large species rich meadow surrounded on 3 sides by roads and ancient broadleaved woodland to the west. The grassland is rich in places and in the south western corner is quite wet with soft rush and pepper saxifrage found. The field was once obviously much wetter and artificial drainage is the most likely reason for its now minimal wet area although meadowsweet can be found across a wider area. A wonderful veteran oak is present by the eastern boundary and a rich hedgerow is found along the east and southern boundaries. The site is one of several important sites in the area providing important ecological connections through the landscape.
